Judge Withrow Decides Against the Tin-Horse Outfit

To-Day

and Orders the Sheriff to Adjourn Court While Their Lawyers Are Protesting.

tle Tin Horses and the Fakirs Must Do ing Scenes in the Court-Room-Protests That Were Loud But Not Available-John H. Overall, Acting President of the Police Board, Discusses the Situation at Present-Raids Will Go On and Doors Will Be Broken Wherever Games Are Found-Gamblers of All Kinds Must Go,

The tin horse gamblers must record another defeat to-day and do without their horses for some time. Judge Withrow this morning vacated the order of court, commanding up the tin horse wheels to the g amblers and men to show cause why they should not be punished for not obeying the order. In the language of the tin-horse gambler they "got it in the neck again." It will be remembered that last Saturday Judge Withrow made airuling ordering Vice-President Overall of the to appear in court Tuesday and show cause why they should not be punished for con tempt of court in not delivering up to Sheriff Pohlman and his deputy Leeves, three tin horse wheels belonging to Thomas Hedd-ing, as he had ordered week before last. When court met there were about one dozen tin-horse gamblers in the room, while clustered about the bench were James O. Broad head, Charles Broadbond, Warwick M. Hough they were in the possession of the Court of the Court of Criminal Correction and not held by the police. To prove this they claimed the warrants on which Hedding and others were arrested were filed with the clerk of the court June 24, two days after the arrest, and have been in his custody and on file ever since.

siter the capture. An atterney for the tin-horse outit denied the jurisdiction of the court in holding the property and said Judge Campbell could not assume to make officers of his court out of the police officers and board members.

Was on the bench at the Court of Criminal Correction, but as soon as he adjourned cours he hastened to the Court-house. He was immediately put on the stand and asked if he ever had possession of the tin horses, he was not allowed to explain but could only say he had not. He explained later that while court was in recess he went into the assembly room at noon and after viewing the property, ordered the police to retain them until called for in evidence in the case when tried. Besides this lack of jurisdiction in ordering the officers to hold the property for the Court, Mr. McDonaid said that the order being made out of court, during recess, and while the Court was not for the court making a special order concerning it. And, further, the property held thera against these men was not charged as an offense. He said a bar, fixtures and liquor could be seized and held when a barksepser violates the law under the same circumstances. The Court would never think of seizing and holding a horse if he rode into a crowd and deiberately killed several people. All these arguments and hypothetical eases were used trying to prove that the court had not possession of the wheels and had not the jurisdiction to order the police to hold them.

Another attorney for the gamblers arose and argued for some time in the same strain. He row had made his order, and asked what the board proposed to do.

"What are we going to do?" he repeated. "Why, nothing but go shead as we have been going. We will prosecute the gamblers and convict them. I knew we would win in this case because I knew we had acted under the authority of the law and they were only taking fighting chances. They had nothing else to do and they concluded to play a bold same."

"Well, since the court has decided that the tin horses are gambling implements will you break in doors to capture gambling outful?"

"Cettainty we will We had that authority before. The Police Board has had it for four-teen years, and it is strange that the law has been overlooked. In 1874, when May, Bainwater was at the head of the board, he had Lowry's room raided and took away the gambling implements. The raid was made without a warrant and Lowry recovered the property, but the max year, in 1855, the Lagislature amended the law and gave the president or acting president the authority to issue a warrant as a Justice of the Peace may, and under that warrant we can break in doors or do anything that is necessary to capture the tools. The reason this authority has been overlooked is that the different boards have supposed that the police manual contained all the law on the subject and in the police manual they did not find the amended law because the minutual was amended. When I went in there and the question arose I went to the statutes instead of the police manual they did not find the samended. When I went in there and the question arose I went to the statutes instead of the police manual they did not find the samended. When I went in these instead of the police manual they did not find the samended. When I went in these instead of the police manual for the law, and the first thing I found was this statute of 1875. That settled the whole thing, and we went to work on the tun horses. The gamblers thought they could beat us, but this law was designed to row had made his order, and asked what the could beat us, but thus law was designed to cover just such cases."

"Will there be any more raids?".

"No. There is no one to raid. There is no gambling here now. These fellows are laying very low at present. There is not a game in the city that we have heard of, and I don't think there is a single one, except some little back alley poker games. No. Gambling is broken up here and all we are going to do now is to convict those we have caught."

AT THE SUMMER GARDENS.

"Coquelicot's" Undraped Indecency-"Mynheer Jan' and the Minstrels. The first production in St. Louis of "Coquelicot," a comic opera by Varnie and Sylvester, drew a good audience to Schnaider's Garden

Theater last night. It would undoubtedly reflect more credit on the taste of the andience if it could be added that the opera drove it away from the garden. and some legitimate fun was marred by incidents of the performance and por-tions of the libretto which would not an entertaining production may not be made of it.

The California Opera Co. gave a creditable first performance of the opera. The work of some of the members of the cast was exceptionally clever. Francis Galilard as Perez scored a strong success. He was artistic in his singing and handled the part with a dash, spirit and intelligence which won the unqualified approval of the audience. He sang Petit Bleu spiendidly, receiving several encores for this and other songs. Fred Urban gave the title role clever and bright treatment. Petite, dainty and shapely ida Mulle illuminated the part of Teresita with chic and brightness. Grace was in every gesture and motion of Miss Mulle and she looked, as the girls would say, "too pretty and cunning for anything" in her Spanish costume. Her work, vocal and dramatic, was excellent. Ada Samers adorned the part of the Drummer Croquignole; Stanley Felch presented a grotesque make up of Choupayon; John E. McWade, as the Duke, and Jos. S. Greensfelder, as the Captain, were estisfactory, and a neat piece of work was done by Marie Adams. Alice Galilard was somewhat misplaced, but did conscientious work.

Many of the theater goers of this city have already flad a taste of "Mynheer Jan," the bright opera by the authors of "Ermine," which was given at the Olympic last season. The taste was pronounced excellent then, and the judgment was approved by the authors. The taste was pronounced excellent then, and the judgment was approved by the authors which gathered at the Cave last evening for its first summer production. The music is pretty and catchy, while the action is lively enough and has enough brightness and comedy to hold the attention and give pleasant entertaloment through an evening.

The opera was for the most part cieverly treated by the cast and was attractively produced last evening. The performance was received with warm approval by the audience. Ferris Hartman developed the comedy part of Hans with excellent effect. John G. Bell made an effectively fierce Gen. Bambolo. Jay C. Taylor was a satisfactory Karl, and Ralph de Messa and Louis Cariberg did good work in Don Diego and Grenadd, respectively. Alice Vincent was handsome and clever as Camilia. Ada Glasca, was attractive and sang as sweetly as usual as Katrine. Jennie Reifferth was capital as the Donna Trolara and the remainder of the cast was well filled.

The new programme at the Kensington drew another good audience to that pleasant resort last evening, and the minstrels made melody and iun enough to keep it thoroughly entertained.

JUDICIAL FARCE.

The Parnellites So Regard the Commission of Inquiry.

Counsel for All the Defendants Withdraw From the Case.

Judges Surprised-Europe and the American Crops-Beet Sugar Representatives in Convention-The International Labor Congress Postponed-The War in Egypt-A Bloody Engagement With Mexican Smugglers-Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch LONDON, July 16 .- I have just returned from the Parnell Court where all the Irish members, through their counsel, have shaken the dust off their feet against a tribunal no longer possessing their confidence. There was general expectation that something dramatic was going to happen and the court was deusely crowded. Public interest, long languish ing, was revived and the Court was as animated as during the Piggott time. I secured a seat next to Parnell and asked him what was going to happen. "We are all going to withdraw.'' said he. What will Russell say?" I asked.

"He will lay all the responsibility on me, aking as little as possible on himself."

This, I may explain, is the customary usage n English courts. The barrister pretends to be only the mouth-piece of his clients. As a matter of fact, the withdrawal was settled after a conference with Russell, he agreeing that no other course was possible. As soon as the Judges entered Russell rose, incidents of the performance and portions of the libretto which would not be tolerated in a well-regulated variety dance hall. It is carcely fair to the French to call these objectionable features by the general term Frenchy which is used to include all that is more or less shocking to American audi ences unless Frenchiness is synonymous with nastiness. That airy, tivelous, light and graceful playing with forbidden topics characteristic of the french method of treating opera bouffe which is at all decent and out of which even a prude may extract some measure of entertainment is utterly lacking in this libretto. But indecency is substituted for grace and footless for wistiveness or double and the synonymous with

and the synonymous with
did not trip lightly over forbidden ground, but wallowed in the mire; it did not suggest,
but left no room for the imagination by cold, numitigated statements of fact; double entendre was knocked out by a frankness of expression which even dense ignorance could not distort into a decency of intention. An incident was introduced into the last act of which the proprieties of reputable journalism forbid to be mentioned. All that can be said with regard to it is that there are things necessarily by all posterior of any degree of reflacment or delicacy to extreme privacy, and when they are dragged out into the glare of the footlights in an attempt to make indecency cover the absence of wit they excite only disgust.

It is incredible that the taste of a St. Louis and lence should be as misladged as it was last evening, but it will be still more incredible it the St. Louis people will consert to let the judgment stand. With a thorouh expurgation of the opera of features palpably improper in a mixed assemblage, there is no reason the work of some of the members of the copera. The should be foois to go on with the judicial farce."

Biggar seems to put the case too strongly. Until the Houston affair there had been nothing very unfair. The judges have been biased, but not wifully unfair. Judge Hannen has certainly tried hard to be entirely impartial. No one can accuse Day, for he has apparently slept with impartiality all through. But the decision not to probe the Figgott conspiracy or inquire into the genesis of the charges and allegations certainly reduces the inquiry to a farce, and the Irish members having all attended themselves for examination and thus disproved the imputation of a desire to shirk inquiry, are quite right to withdraw.

Watching the American Crops.

London, July 16.—Monday's weekly report from Bombay by cable settles the fact that the Indian wheat crop is going to be no factor at all in the question of the world's food supply this year, and there is a sudden and anxious effort now being made to get at the facts upon which to base an estimate of what the world's crop will really be like. I spent yesterday with a number of the best informed English specialists and discovered that they believe that the situation a few months hence is going to be fully as bad as it was last year. One or two say they expect it to be worse. Of course, the state of European crops is still succeptible of fluctuations and can not be mapped out until the annual seed fair at Vienna, which has advanced to date to Atgust 24, but while climatic contingencies may injure good crops, they will do little to improve those already doomed, and the condition in October is more likely to be worse than better. The demand for wheat in the big purchasing countries of Europe bids fair to be smaller than usual. England and France both promise harvests considerably better than last year. As the fields and stocks now stand the yield of these two countries is expected to be 40,000,000 bushels in excess of that of last year. Spain will also be above the average, and Italy only a trifle under. Germany is almost as goodperhaps the present weather will make her quite as good—as last year. But there the favorable picture shruptly stops. Indeed, the tenth parallel may be taken as fairly dividing the good from the bad. East of that line wheat crops have gone to pieces. Two great exporting countries, Russia and Austro-Hungary, will this year find it difficult to feed themselves.

Russia, which had big harvests the last two years, and forced the market to get rid of all its grain in order to float loans, the last of which was concluded themselves.

Russia, which had big harvests the last two years, and forced the market to get rid of all its grain in order to float loans, the last of endouragine buller to the of London, July 16.—Monday's weekly report from Bombay by cable settles the fact that the districts is a complete failure. There is a mass of confirmatory evidence of this from private sources, but the most conclusive is the fact that the official bureau which last year for the first time sent out lots of encouraging bulletins, this year gives no sign of its existence. The long drought and then the cyclonic storms, which destroyed wheat and oats prospects in Russia, have done the same for wheat, rye and barley in Austro-Hungary, Roumania and Eastern Germany. In short, though crops west of the tenth parallel are quite definitely better than in 1888, this is more than baianced by the failure in the far more important grain fields east of that line. England, France and Italy must always buy so much grain that the question exactly, how much they need is not specially important, but the failure of big exporting countries is serious, considering the collapse of India and the very deficient crops of Australia. It is now estimated here by experts that the eastern hemisphere as a whole is worse off than it was a year ago at this time. There is, therefore, almost tearful interest in what the Auserican crop will be like. The shortage over here will be so great that the market will be mose as the mercy of the United States than the extremotr from the consideration of the situation Mr. Parnell had instructed him and Mr. Asquith, also of counsel, to no longer represent him before the Commission. In reply to Sir Charles' statement, which virtually was a notification that Mr. Parnell declined to make any further presentation of his case before the Commission, Fresiding Justice Hannen said: "Mr. Parnell will, of course, remain subject to the jurisdiction of the court. Messrs. Reid and Lockwood, counsel for other Members of Parliament, against whom charges were made by the Times, then also withdrew from the case. Mr. Parnell made a personal application to the court asking thas if there was any design to further examine bim such examination be proceeded with without delay. He complained of Attorney General Webster's action in postponing for three months bis re-examination on the subject of the checks drawn by Mr. Parnell. The court, Mr. Parnell declared, ought to appoint a day for his re-examination or else discharge him from further attendance. Presiding Justice Hannen promised to try to meet the convenience of Mr. Parnell by recalling him on Thursday.

Mr. Russell B. Harrison, Mr. Lincoln, the United States Minister, and his wife dinad with the Queen at Windsor yesterday evening. MR. O'KELLEY TESTIFES.

After counsel for Parnell and other members of Parliament had retired Presiding Justice Hannen sand that the scope of the inquiry would not be altered by their action. The persons hitherto represented by counsel could appear in their own defense if they desired. The taking of testimony was then resumed. Mr. James O'Kelley, member of the House of Commons for North Roscommon, was called. He declared that he had no statement to make. On cross-examination he admitted that he was a member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood from 1866 to 1870. In 1871 an attempt to arrest him was made when he was leaving Ireland under the name of John Smith. Letters were found in his luggage from an agent, who was shipping arms to Ireland. Sir Henry James, of counsel for the Times, pro "We are ready to take the field when the proper orders are issued to the regiments

"We are ready to take the field when the proper orders are issued to the reximental commanders."

The witness admitted that the letters were authentic. While witness was in America ne joined the Clan-na-Gael. This organization sent him to Ireland as a military officer to feorganize the men. He received $9,000 towards his expenses. He did not effect the object of his mission, finding that the agents in Ireland declined to co-operate with him. He, therefore, considered his mission ended and went to France. He sent his resignation to America and returned $5,000. Since that time he had had no connection with the Clan-na-Gael or the Fenians. During his career in Parliament he had received no money from America. He denied spending $10,000, which had been entrusted to him for election purposes.

In addition to these circumstances the same unfortunate misunderstandings about the disposition of funds, furniture, etc., irregularities in dropping certain members who wished to quictly withdraw, and the destructions of accounts, etc., brought the association into disrepute. Since then the members have dropped off rapidly. All discipline has been thrown off and no attempt is now made to enforce the rules.

Appointing Janitors, Janitor John Moore of Circuit Court-room No. 3 has been notified that his services will be dispensed with after August 1. Under a provision enacted by the Leg-islature the Circuit Judges have a right to name the janitors for their respective courts. This law was enacted largely on account of an unbecoming dispute concerning the appoint-ment of a janitor in the Criminal Court under-Mayor Ewing's administration. The janitor filling the place gave satisfaction to the Judge unbecoming dispute concerning the appointment of a janitor in the Criminal Court under hayor Ewing's administration. The janitor filling the place gave satisfaction to the Judge and officials of the court, both Democrats and Republicans, and they were anxions to retain him, but the pressure of the politicians on the Mayor for places were so great that he removed the faniter to make room for a wardworker. The Mayor, through the Commissioner of Buildings; still has the right to appoint all other janitors.

The Federal Places.

The candidates for Collector of Internal Revenue and Appraiser, and for subordinate positions in these offices are becoming hopeful again. It is reported that a representative of the Congressional combine will, in his yacation, devote some of his time to securing changes, as Collector Barnam will complete his commissioned time next fall it is not probable that the administration will apoll a record by removing him a few weeks before the expiration of the term. The inability of the Rapublican powers to agree upon a candidate for Appraiser may serve to allow the insument another lease of official life.

of the moment, to approve of Frank Lacy's appointment to a position in the Auditor's office, caused some annoyancs. There was no reason why the Mayor should help Lacy to position if he had any political friend aspring for the place, but Lacy is an active worker, and it is reported that in the interest of harmony in the Eighth Ward Mayor Noonan's friends will ask his confirmation when the Mayer returns.

A Union Pacific Scheme.

By Telegraph to the Post-Distarcm.

New York, July 16, — According to the Wonld of this morning, a conference was held in this city yesterday which may result in diverting a large share of the Union Pacific's business across Canada to the seaboard. The conference was for the purpose of considering the state of the properly known as the Mineapy to Soux City and Council Bluffs, which will give the Union Pacific and free time to a connection on the Canadian Pacific. This will make a route to the seaboard shorter by several hundred miles than the present route by way of Chicago. The new road is known as the Sault Ste. Marle & Southsented by N. C. Foster of Fairchild, Wis., who is the Fresident of the company, and James McIatyse, of Eau Clairs, Wis., both of whom are wealthy lumber merchants in their State. The negotiations are being conducted in Europe as well as here. The original object of the promoters of the Union Pacific people were quick to jump at the plan, seeing the benefits that would accorae to them by reason of their getting a short line to the coast independent enjity of Chelogo.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Recent dispatches from the Indian Territory state that the Cherokee Cattle Co. have offered to lease the lands of the Cherokee strip from the Indians for a term of years at a large rental. It further stated that it is probable that the company will eventually buy the lands from the Indians. The Commission recently appointed by the President to negotiate with the Indians for the purchase of these lands for the Government, with a view of their being ultimately thrown open to the public, are about to begin their labors, and it is the opinion of the Interior Department officials that those offers, alleged to have been made by the cattle company, are evidently intended to embarrass the commission in its work. They believe that both the cattle company and many more of the intelligent Indians are perfectly aware of the paramount right of the United States to these lands and that the Indians can neither sell nor lease them without the consent of the Government. Secretary Noble was questioned as to the purpose of the government in the event of an attempted consummation of the proposed lease or sale. He said he did not care to discuss the matter at present, but would say, however, that the Government would recognize no competitor for these or any other lands in which it had an interest. If the laterests of private parties conflict with those of the Government, the former, he said must certainly be put to one side.

It has been shown first what the rules of the monopoly are, and how they are enforced. The insured of St. Louis have been acquainted with the true status of affairs, and charged with enforcing the laws of the State have been given a clear case upon which to be-IN THE MATTER OF SCHEDULES the board also claims a redeeming feature, insofar as it gives all persons the same rate under the same circumstances. It has already been shown that the same conditions do not always have the same weight. In this connection, however, it is interred that the nonboard rates are purely a matter of guesswork, and that there is no equity about them. Investigation, however, shows this to be untrue.
The non-board awaits start out on a estabgin work. They do not need to waste any time whatever on preliminaries. The Secretary of State has the initiative very clearly, and the follow it up. The provisions of the anti-trust law, which was equally strong against a tyranny or conspiracy, leave no room for quesion as to the method of procedure. The fact of the organization having been established, its rules and regulations, its methods of enforcing arbitrary orders and its ractices in the general course of business having been clearly set forth new questions Does the board

OFFER ANY ADVANTAGES WHATEVER in its dealings with the commercial and man-ufacturing public? Would its dissolution in any way harm the insured or increase the probability of losses? The same answer is given to both—no. And this no is made very emphatic and is coupled with the assertion that the only object of the board is to extort the highest possible rates from the insured and to make it impossible for new agents to and to make it impossible for new agents to some into the field unless they are backed by extraordinary influence and also in this connection to crowd out as many of those now in as possible.

pated the non-board companies would come in for the business.

Another case of guessing also came to light this morning. An advance was made on the Williamson Beiting Co., which resulted in the non-board men being called in. The board agents then asked if they could have the business at the old rates, and, being told no, they jumped the rate up 1 per cent. The only result was to cause the managers of the nen-board companies to make inquiries as to the difference in the rates, but when they examined the schedules of their own agents they found that they were correct.

STILL MORE GUESS WORK A Post-Disparch reporter to-day gave that phase of the question a patient and searching nvestigation and could come to but one conclusion. Many of the board agents have but little idea of the character of their risks, other found that they were correct.

STILL MORE GUESS WORK was done in the practical extension of the schedule district to the city limits, and the rating of dwelling-houses and their contents. Before the rating was put in force the board agents had been the liveliest of computitors. This class of insurance is what is known as the cream of the business and for brick structures much of it had been written at 35 cents for five years, with a rate of 60 to 70 cents on the furniture and contents. than that the map used by the board as guide says that there is such a building there, and that it is an excellent, good, fair or bad risk. A large proportion of them fail utterly in going into detail as to the condition, sur roundings and occupancy of an insured piece other hand, have the data at hand to give that campaign.

ETIQUETTE.—Wedding cards are all worded ules and tariffs are not in the in the tit insores to all the same rate for the same character of risk. A Post-Disparon reporter this morning learned of two risks which disprove this. One is that on the stores of Wear, Boogher & Co. and the other those of Rice, Stix & Co. The business is the same, the localities are similar in surroundings, the buildings are identical for purposes of insurance, and any agent using his own judgment in writing a policy would give them the same rate. The board does this, giving both a rate of 86 cents, but on one it imposes the coinsurance clause, the most burdensome feature of the policies, which it insists on dictating. The only reason for the difference is that the board is in a position to insist upon the coinsurance in the content of the property was the greatest mistake the board has every made, and it now sees it very clearly.

ANOTHER BIG MISTAKE

Is shown in the imposition of the coinsurance clause. The case quoted above gives a strong illustration of this, and shows just how burdensome it can be reade. While this clause is often attached to policies, however, it is only imperatively placed on the meat and wood interests. Just why these two should be singled out cannot be satisfactory explained, and the order seems to be without any reason whatever. The people brought any reason whatever. The people brought and error in these interests have prowhich disprove this. One is that on the stores of Wear, Boogher & Co. and the other those of Rice, Stix & Co. The business is the same, the localities are similar in surroundings, the buildings are identical for purposes of insurance, and any agent using his own judgment in writing a policy would give them the same rate. The board does this, giving both a rate of $5 cents, but on one it imposes the co-insurance clause, the most burdensome feature of the policies, which it insists on dictating. The only reason for the difference is that the board is in a position to insist upon the co-insurance law in one case, while in the other it anticipates a danger of the company going to the non-board agents.

This does away with the idea of fair dealing, though many other illustrations could be given in support of it. It then is leaves the feature of

This does away with the idea of fair dealing, though many other illustrations could be given in support of it. It then leaves the guiven in support of it. It then leaves the feature of INSPECTION AND ENCOURAGEMENT looking toward the decrease of the hazard of a risk as the only claim of the old monopoly. And this claim is proven to be without foundation. The board members do not want to lessen the hazard unless necessary, because that would necessitate a reduction in rates and a consequent decrease in commissions. This also has been clearly established. The most convincing argument in this direction is in reference to the equipping of buildings and factories with automatic sprinklers. The non-board agents insist on this precaution in all special hazards where it is possible, and to encourage the insured to do as they advise they offer a rate 30 to 30 per cent below the one they would otherwise give, even if they accepted it at all. The board, on the other hand. discountenances the use of the aprinklers, though it is compelled to reduce its rates 20 to 30 per cent where they are put in. When they do that, however, the risk must be a good one, whereas the non-board agents will cut even a printing house rate in half if the building is fully equipped with the sprinklers. This class of risks, too, is the most difficult to fill of all others.

IN CONSIDERING INSPECTION it must be remembered that the infinence of the mutual and non-board companies has been felt for only about four years, or less than to the insured to improve their property and the basis upon which the rate of premining in the date of the building and factories with automatic sprinklers. The non-board agents in the very sprinklers. The non-board agents will cut even a printing house rate in half if the building is fully equipped with the sprinklers. lessen the danger of fire, only in lessen the danger of fire, only in seem to make a certain reduction for every improvement made. They have followed this up with a rigid inspection, so that in less than four years they have accomplished more in reducing the danger of fire to the minimum than had been done for twenty-five years before. The companies have three or four times a year sent special inspectors to examine all risks, these examinations being in addition to those required of the agent. The latter in his incompany may feel that he has actually seen the building himself. A Post-DISFATCH reporter was shown one of these reports this morning, and it was certainly very exhaustive. Under this inspection the managers and the same character as the Fire and though its memberahlp is much smaller at large buildings were encouraged to provide them with hose or barrels and buckets of water, for which a rebate was given. MISSISSIPPI SHELLFISH.

"As a matter of tact, the difference between the Mississippi shrimp and crawfish is small. Both, I believe, are really crawfish if considered scientifically, as the shrimp of the Western But shrimp or crawfish, these animals are the dangerous than floods or crevasses. The latcombing process of these little animals. They everthing else seems to give way before their holes in the levee, where they make their nests, and often penetrate to great depths. Not infrequently they completely pierce the levee, coming out on the land side. This is especially likely to be the case where the land is below the river, and when the levee presents a step wall on either side. The water sepes through, the levee is most seriously weakened before any apparent damage is done, as the holes are very small, and when a strong pressure is brought to bear the injured dyke gives way. Millions of dollars would not nay for the damage done by these little.

very small, and when a strong pressure is brought to bear the injured dyke gives way. Millions of doilars would not pay for the damage done by these little snellfish during the last ten years, and the River Commission has to be continually on its guard against them.

"An animal that is even more destructive is a marine worm known as the teredo. This is a long, thin worm, provided with a beak as sharp as a chisel. Unlike the crawfish, which is found in all parts of the world, in cannot stand a very low temperature, but wherever it exists the damage done by it, unless the most careful precautions are taken, is immense. Wooden ships are always exposed to its assaults, and the copper vestigation, however, shows this to be untrue. The non-board acents start out on an established basis, and figure out to a conclusion, allowing for all improvements and making a rebate for improvements made after the writing of the risk. Four illustrations were found of this to-day. Ohe was in that of the Drummond box factory at Alton, another in that of the St. Louis, or Liggett & Myer, box factory here, and others in the cases of the Excessior and Klausman brewerles. The board had either refused to make rates or grant concessions for improvements, or had advanced the existing rates in each of these. The non-board element was called upon and the risks were all carefully scheduled by it, unless the most careful precautions are taken, is immense. Wooden ships are always exposed to its assaults, and the copper sheathing, which is now universally used, is required more for protection against these animaloules than against anything else. The general use of iron ships on our Eastern seaboard has in a great measure distracted attention from the teredo, which at any rate does not flourish in the cold Arctic current that runs along the northern Atlantic coast. I should remark, by the way, that the teredo is seidom if ever found in fresh water.

A WOODBORING WORM.

"But where the water is comparatively warm the teredo still does immense damage. In the spring of 1886 a large steamer belonging to the Pacific Mail Co. was expected to sail and a heavy cargo was being accummulated on the Alameda dock. Suddenly, while the workmen were moving freight, the entire dock collapsed. Fortunately there was no loss of life, but the destruction of property was very large. The pier had been recently examined and had been sheathed with iron to the point where they ran into the mud, but investigation proved that the mud level varied with the winds and tides, and that at times the unsheathed bottoms were baro. This was taken advantage of by the teredo to effect an entrance, and soon the wood was reduced to a mere shell. On the outside but a few openings could be discovered, none of them as large as the head of a pin. But on the interior the dismeter of the punctures increased twenty-fold until nothing was left but a honeycome. When a heavy load was put upon the wharf the whole thing collapsed. Only one kind of other hand, have the data at hand to give any detail required. This would go to prove that THE BOARD'S ONLY CLAIM IS FALSE, and that it does not stand as a guide and protector to the insured, encouraging improvements which will lessen the probability of ments which will lessen the probability of the probability of the work of the work of the whole thing was extended to the city limits, however, the minimum rate has been increased to 75 cents of the punctures increased to fine years, with a rate of by the teredo to effect that work the wood that work the wood that work in the wood to the wood that the work of the work in the work of th When a heavy load was put upon the whole thing collapsed. THE WEATHER UNSETTLED.

Sergt. Hammon Says He Doesn't Know The weather is uncertain and unsettled now, and it is almost impossible to tell what turn it The rain to-day was local but local rains have prevailed in a number of places throughout this section of the valley. The prospect is any positive indication of what is to come. The following is the statement of the condition of the weather prepared by Sergt, Hammon of the Signal Service for the Post-Dis-PATCH:

An area of low barometer is now central in Eastern Montana, moving enatward, caused warmer weather west of the Mississippi River, West. Local forecast: Showers, followed by clearing weather.

Sergt. Haminon said, however: "I would not be surprised if my prediction should fall. I predicted clear weather this afternoon and it rained. I must confess that I am op a stump to-day. I cannot tell what the weather is going to do. There is a cloudy strip from the Northwest to the Southeast, extending over the whole country. If the low baromeier area follows that cloudy strip down, and it looks as if it would, we will have rain for twenty-four hours."

A Town With Four Mayors.

CINCINNATI, O., July 16 .- Newport, Ky., is in a state of excitement bordering on anarchy. It is suffering from too many Mayors, four men claiming that distinction. Mayor Berry men claiming that distinction. Mayor Berty went away two years ago and told the police force to report to County Judge Hill during his absence. At a meeting of the Common Council 'Squire Bodkins was selected Chair man. According to the Charter of Newport the Mayor is President ex-officio of the Common Council, and view versa. Last night the Council called John Holloran to the chair and he is now the fourth man who claims to be the temporary Mayor. Matters will be appealed to the courts.

a young colored girl, friendly to both, and about 7:30 p. m. the three started out to get a pitcher of bear. While crossing the above mentioned vacant lot the Fuller woman suddenly drew a dagger from her bosom and plunged it into Johnston's breast. The injured man fell like a log, and was carried to his home by some passing pedestrians. Early the next day he died, and the post-mortem examination revealed the terrible force of the death blow. The breast-bone had been cus like an egg-shell, and the pointed weapon had pierced the left lung, causing death from an internal hemorrhage. The section of the breast-bone will be introduced as testimony in the case. After the commission of the crime the Fuller girl fied, and was arrested lying asleep in her bed when hunted a few hours later. She acknowledged the killing, but pleaded self-delense, and told her story in very plausible language. She insisted that Johnston had renewed the quarrel of the morning; had cursed and denounced her all along the street, and had finally ATTACKED HER WITH A CLUR, which he picked from the street, knocked her to the ground once and following her a distance of several feet before she turned and struck the fatal hlow. Unfortunately for the defense the girl Katle Crump, who was the only eye-witness of the tragedly, falls to corroborate these statements, insisting that the Fuller girl was the aggressor in the affair. She told a straight story at the Coroner's inquest, but refused to resoond when served with a subpoun for the Criminal Court and was brought before the bar this morning on an attachment. It is not believed, however, that HER FRIENDSHIP TOWARD THE DEFENDANT will in any great measure affect the gist of her testimony. Johnston was a married man and leaves a wife and one small child.

New York, July 16, 11 a. m.—The stock market this morning, except for about half-adozen stocks in all, was extremely dull and entirely without special feature. The opening as compared with last evening's closing quotations was somewhat irregular, but generally firm, the changes extending to a percent either way. St.—Paul, Atchison and Lead were the only really active stocks, but there was a moderate business in Union Pacific, Reading and the new C., C., C. & St. Louis. The list generally rose slight fractions in the first few minutes' trading, but afterward gave way and most stocks were brought below the opening prices, though the only marked movement was in lead, which retired & to 25%. A raily soon followed and the C. C. C. & St. Louis stocks displayed marked strength and the common advanced 1 per cent to 61%. Northern Pacific preferred also became very prominent, both for activity and strength, and rose 1 per cent to 65%. The movements in the rest, however, were small and generally insignificant and at 11 o'clock the market was dull and firm at about the best prices reached. Noon—Money is easy at 263 per cent. Bar silver 91%. The duliness of the stock market was increased after 11 o'clock, but Northern Pacific preferred and C. C. C. & St. Louis remained fairly active and still led in the upward movement which made further progress. C. C. C. & St. Louis rose 1 per cent to 72. The other changes were fractional and toward 12 o'clock the market was extremely dull and so remained until the end of the hour, at that time being firm at the best prices of the morning.

3. p. m.—The stock market closed dull and teady at small fractions above opening stocks.

3. p. m.—The stock market closed dull and steady at small fractions above opening figures.

Over two hundred delegates were present, half of them being from the towns of Oklahoma and Kingdisher. The report of the Committee on Kesolutions strongly favors deferring action upon the formation of a territorial Government until steps looking to that end are taken by Congress. The Oklahoma City delegation is jabitant over what they term Guthrie's downtall. They appear confident that Oklahoma's capital will be located at Oklahoma City, inasmuch as yesterday's proceeding showed that every town in Oklahoma was arrayed against Guthrie.

ide, and the manufacturers elsewhere have been sending to St. Louis for informahave been sending to St. Louis for information. The report that was started was that the Samuel Cupples Wooden Ware Co. of this city, which is the largest in the country, was at the head of the movement and was urging the formation of a combination because during the past year competition has robbed the business of its profits. Mr. R. S. Brockings, who is the vice-president and general manager of the Cupples Co., was seen this morning and asked if there was any truth in the report.

"No," he said, "none at all. I do not know what authority there was for sending these dispatches, so I can not tell what prompted them, but there is not a word of truth in the report and I will authorize you to say in my name that the report is made out of the whole cloth. No trust is organizing and none is proposed. Why this report was started I do not know, but I do know that it is untrue."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 16.—There is a movement on foot here, started by Thomas H. Green, to form a hotel trust. It is estimated that the aggregate business done by the thirteen leading hotels here last year amounted to $5,000,000. Mr. Green's proposi-tion is that all of the big hotels in Philadelphia become a part of the trust and that the capital be the amount of the business done by each hotel with the value of the furniture and leases added. In other words, to form a "pooling" arrangement, the ownership in the real estate to remain in present hands.

resents the city from which he hails, yet the opposing teams frequently complain of his decisions being debridegrooms. In the pired between the Browns and Brooklyns here, games they won by his erroneous decisions. He also favored them strongly in the first game, although they lost; but in the second game he seemed to lean toward the Browns in his decisions. His assistance was not needed, however, in the second game, as the Brooklyns were never in it, the Browns winning by the one-sided score of 11 to 2. The bree games were all close and every decision given against a club counted, and there were many given against the Browns, which should have been given in their favor. Now come tidings from Cincinnati that Ferguson was assaulted there for presenting a game to the Prooklyns. It was claimed he robbed Cincinnati of a victory last week and that on Sunday he called the game on account of rain before it had commenced to rain hard enough to warrant this action, although a terrific storm did blow up ten minutes later When the game was called, at the end of the fourth inning, the score stood 4 to 0 in favor of Cincinnati, and it required but another inning to make the game count as a victory for the Porkopolis team. Yesterday the Brooklyns won by a score of 6 to 4 and it was claimed they won through Ferguson's umpiring. His decisions so incensed the crowd that several beer glasses were hurled at him at the conclusion of the game, though he escaped unhurt.

It is well known that the home club usually gets a shade the better of the umpiring everywhere, and this rule usually holds good here except when the Brooklyns are the opposing club, and then the Brooklyns are the opposing the worst of it. Byrne runs the American Association to suit himself and appears to have a big pull with the umpires. Other clubs complain of having had the same experience in their games with the Brooklyns and more particularly when Ferguson umpires. The Columbus team claim that with fair decisions they would have won the draw game they played with Brooklyn, but that Ferguson's decisions were strongly in favor of Byrne's club.

Salvator Meet Proctor Knott and 8 pekane. The Omnibus Stakes, which will be run at Long Branch August 13, besides being a rich prize, writes The Saunterer, will be the event of the year, really, for, like the Futurity of 1888, it will decide a mooted question—which of the yaar, roally, for, like the Futurity of 1888, it will decide a mooted question—which is the greatest 3-year-old of the year? The Easterners now claim that Salvastor 1s, while the Westerners claim that Proctor Knott, since his nollow victory in the Sheridan Stakes in Olicago, is without a peer in the horse world. Salvator's race for the Tidal Stakes made horsemen who saw the contest grow enthusiastic over him. The colt simply played with his field and won in the easiest possible fashion. He has grown very much since last year, and resembles Prince Charlie more than ever, especially in carriage. His muscular development is very prominent, and his action is not quite so low and sweeping as it was last season. To-day he is in very high form. Since the contest for the Lorillard stakes the prejudice against the Prince Charlies has been removed. People had foreotten that Prince Charlie was a natural stayer, and it was his "roaring" that stopped him, yet he ran second for the St. Leger, and his son, Prestonpans, stayed well enough in England. In the Lorillard stakes, run July 9 last, Salvator won by two lengths in 2:37th. The only reason why Salvator did not come to Chicago to participate in the American Derby was because Haggin was afraid to take the risk. The colt could not have reached here until the Friday before the race, and the would-not have had time even for a breather.

the scrawny animal, but well rounded and full of fire and friskiness. One look now at the great horse fills a person with enthusiasm. His muscles stand forth in bold relief like those of Gladiator Sullivan stripped for battle. He gallops stronger and faster every day. Ere many hours Proctor Knott will be en route to Saratoga, that horse haven of America, where he will obtain a period of absolute quiet and rost, Sam Bryant has at last become poseossed of some good ideas, suggested by Gen. Robinson, Col. Clay, Mr. Brewster and Capt. Franklin. These men believed the horse in the midstof his adversities to be the greatest one on earth. All Proctor needed was rest after the severe pounding that Bryant had given him. Bryant acknowledged his mistake last Saturday to The Saunterer, adding that it had been a costly one. Proctor will not leave Saratoga until the morning the Omnibus is run. It was decided to fix the stakes at $2,000 as side and $1,000 challenge cup. The match is to be rowed on September 6. The starting question brought objections from the Canadian, who wanted the umpire to start the men by a pistol shot instead of the connections starting themselves. Eventually the matter was arranged and O'Connor conceded the point. Searle also objected to the final clause, which allowed the umpire to postpone the race in the event of fog or rough weather. After a long discussion Searle waived the point. In the betting room searle was a strong favorite:

Postmaster-General Wanamaker's Reduction of the Government Telegraph Bate.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

New York, July 16.—The officials of the Western Union Telegraph Co. are extremely reticent concerning the proposed reduction of tolls on Government telegrams from 1 cent to 1 mill per word. A prominent officer of the company said that the Postmaster-General was in error in saying that any contracts ex-isted by which private business was charged isted by which private business was charged only I mill per word; the lowest rate was half a cont per word for short distances, increasing according to distance. He had no doubt that the Postmaster-General would discover his mistake and arrange a better scale. It is understood that the Western Union Co. are preparing an exhaustive answer to the notification they have received, in which they will show that the rate Mr. Wanamaker proposes is far below the cost of service.
